CBRE

CB Richard Ellis Industrial Services represents the largest industrial services platform in the world - with industrial real estate professionals in all significant markets throughout North America, Europe, Asia and Latin America. In addition to its core competency, the group is highly organized and networked to leverage the collective knowledge and experience of all of its industrial professionals.

Because manufacturing, warehouse and distribution portfolios are often multimarket and frequently cross-border, communication and collaboration among our professionals are essential. Intent on delivering the best real estate solutions for our clients, we have internal reports, shared databases and regular conference calls and meetings where our professionals share best practices, discuss emerging trends and devise strategies.
